COURSES IN HOLLINS ABROAD - LONDON:

THEA 240L: Acting Shakespeare (4)

offered in London only

Acting Shakespeare is designed to help students create a toolbox that will aid them in effectively lifting Shakespeare's words off the page and onto the stage. Students will not only explore a focused approach to acting Shakespeare, but also develop a greater understanding of the text and character through performance.

COURSES IN HOLLINS ABROAD - PARIS:

FREN 221P: Accelerated Intermediate French (6)

offered in Paris only

Students will be provided language skills in order to be able to live and to interact with relative ease in daily situations in Paris. Emphasis will be placed on the ability to speak, while continually broadening students' knowledge of vocabulary, grammar, French and Francophone culture and current events. This class will also allow students, if they wish, to continue to take other courses in French after their semester abroad.

FREN 327P: French Culture and Society (4)

offered in Paris only

It is hard to think of a more different country from the USA within the Western Democratic world than France, Centralization vs. Federalism, the place of religion in society, the impact of feminism, the importance of literature and language in the national consciousness... There are many aspects that distinguish French culture from its American counterpart. This class will focus on French culture specificities. Students will study major historical periods and social and political movements that have shaped France and French society. Students will become familiar with major figures of art, politics, and contemporary French culture. The course will be taught in French and English, as needed and appropriate, with information reinforced through visits/field trips to museums, monuments, lectures and the theatre and film performances, as available.
